Bikes, waveboards most dangerous rides

By Jimmy R. Uy

MANILA (PNA) — A study conducted by the Department of Transportation (DOTr) revealed that the most dangerous modes of transport in the Philippines are motorcycles, followed by bicycles, and then by waveboards and skateboards.

The DOTr said that of the more than 100,000 accidents recorded in 2010, motorcycles were the most common mode of transport involved in accidents, followed by bicycles, and then by waveboards and skateboards.

CHRISTMAS SEASON

PNP warns of rise in kidnaps

By Benigno Aquino III
The Philippine National Police (PNP) has issued a warning to the public that the Christmas season is a time when kidnaps and other crimes are likely to increase. The PNP chief, Gen. Romeo B. Braganza, said that the police are on high alert and will be cracking down on any criminal activity during the holidays.

He said that the police have received reports of several kidnaps in the past few weeks, and that the criminals are likely to take advantage of the festive atmosphere to carry out their plans. He urged the public to be vigilant and to report any suspicious activity to the police immediately.

2 Senate committees approve amnesty order

By M.T. Cabanagem Jr.

PHILIPPINE SENATE COMMITTEES have approved a bill to grant amnesty to former rebels who have laid down arms. The bill, known as the "Amnesty Bill," is a landmark piece of legislation that aims to bring peace to the southern Philippines by offering a path to reconciliation for those who have fought against the government.

The bill was passed by the Senate's Committee on Human Rights and the Committee on Constitutional Amendments. It is now being pushed through the Senate floor.

Water rationing
The bill also provides for water rationing in areas affected by the conflict. It mandates the government to ensure that basic needs are met for the affected population.

The bill is a significant step towards achieving lasting peace in the region. It reflects the government's commitment to a peaceful resolution of the conflict and its willingness to offer a second chance to those who have fought against it.

The bill is expected to be passed by the Senate in the coming months. It will then move to the House of Representatives for approval.

Courts must govern
The bill also emphasizes the role of the courts in governing the process. It requires the judiciary to ensure that the amnesty process is fair and transparent.

Palatillo says that human rights bill is a landmark piece of legislation that aims to bring peace to the southern Philippines by offering a path to reconciliation for those who have fought against the government.

Who is misdeclaring the facts?

The Bureau of Customs (Customs) filed a complaint against officers and employees of Filipinas Shell Petroleum Corporation (Shell) last week, alleging that the latter intentionally misdeclared its 2005-2009 Catalytic Cracked Gasoline (CCG) and Light Catalytic Cracked Gasoline (LCCG) importations by using the tariff heading "tetrapropylene" to evade the payment of the proper taxes and duties. Worse, Customs officials held a press conference and distributed media releases, where it publicly accused Shell of "technical smuggling" and made it appear that Shell evaded the payment of excise taxes and the VAT thereon.

To shed light on these baseless charges, we wish to share more salient facts about this issue:

- Firstly, as a responsible corporate citizen, Shell has paid all appropriate taxes and duties on all its imports. Even if the tariff heading number of tetrapropylene (2710.11.30) was used for CCG/LCCG importations, Shell consistently declared that the product imported was CCG/LCCG in the documents it submitted to Customs. Customs then reviewed and assessed proper tariffs and taxes to be paid by Shell, based on the product declaration of CCG and LCCG. Therefore, Shell accordingly paid the tariff duty assessed by Customs and as such, there was never any revenue loss to the government since it collected either the higher duty of 3% or the relevant tariff rate for CCG and LCCG based on the applicable Executive Orders.
- Secondly, and more importantly, there were no excise taxes due on these 2005-2009 CCG and LCCG imports since each importation is covered by a Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) directive to the Customs not to assess Shell excise taxes on these imports. CCG and LCCG are not subject to excise taxes, since these are not final products but raw materials used by Shell's refinery to produce Clean Air Act compliant petroleum products. From 2004 until December 2009, the BIR did not assess excise taxes on these imported raw materials upon importation, but collected the excise taxes from Shell upon the withdrawal of the finished products from Shell's refinery.

The issue of double taxation, i.e., whether CCG and LCCG imports are excisable by Customs upon importation, in addition to BIR assessment upon withdrawal of the finished products, is already pending before the Court of Tax Appeals (CTA).

Based on the above, it is very clear that Customs Commissioner Angelito Alvarus has been misled by holdovers from the previous administration to believe that:

- Shell committed fraud by misdeclaring its CCG/LCCG importations;
- There was evasion of the payment of taxes and loss of revenue to government; and
- The facts of this criminal complaint are different from the current case pending in the CTA.

We view this development as reinforcement of President Aquino's assessment that the biggest challenge facing his administration is trying "to replace a system that has been in the country in its worst form for practically the last 10 years".

Shell has always acted according to its business principles, and has built and protected its reputation for many years. Accordingly, we will be filing cases for gross negligence, gross incompetence, and defamation against those who had misled this government.

Shell, however, remains hopeful and committed to help the present administration in the continued fight to change the system and to expose corrupt and incompetent government officials.

Abstract: The present study examined the effects of a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact, and low-impact aerobically fit individuals. The results showed that the low-impact group had significantly higher heart rate, oxygen consumption, and energy expenditure than the low-intensity group. The low-intensity group had significantly higher heart rate, oxygen consumption, and energy expenditure than the low-impact group. The low-impact group had significantly higher heart rate, oxygen consumption, and energy expenditure than the low-intensity group. The low-intensity group had significantly higher heart rate, oxygen consumption, and energy expenditure than the low-impact group. The low-impact group had significantly higher heart rate, oxygen consumption, and energy expenditure than the low-intensity group.

The authors would like to thank Dr. J. H. Duerksen for his assistance and comments, and all the staff who have contributed to the success of the program.

It is also possible that a group may have a different composition in the different situations. For example, in a group of students, a group may be formed of students who are interested in a particular subject, and this group may be different from the group of students who are interested in a different subject.

The following table shows the results of the regression analysis. The dependent variable is the number of days of absence from work due to illness. The independent variables are age, sex, and years of education. The results show that age has a positive effect on the number of days of absence from work due to illness. Sex has a negative effect, and years of education has a positive effect.

49. DISORDERLY gerous or lawless has nothing to do with disorderly because the "disorderly" part of the word refers to the actions and practices in a group, state, or society, not to the actions of a few. Wrong: disorderly means the disorderly of that country.

the 1990s, and the 1990s have been a period of rapid growth for the Latin American and Caribbean region. The region's growth has been driven by a combination of factors, including a strong recovery in the private sector, a significant increase in foreign investment, and a strong recovery in the public sector.

A life-and-death issue

WHILE the issue of abortion is a life-and-death issue, it is also a moral issue. It is a question of whether or not we should allow a woman to decide for herself whether or not to abort. It is a question of whether or not we should allow a woman to decide for herself whether or not to abort.

Disturbing revelations about the Air Force

 On Focus

The Air Force has been hit by a series of disturbing revelations that have shaken the public's confidence in the service. The revelations, which include allegations of sexual harassment, cover-ups, and mismanagement, have led to a series of investigations and reforms. The Air Force has been accused of covering up a range of incidents, from sexual harassment to the deaths of service members. The revelations have also highlighted the need for greater transparency and accountability within the service.

100% CBP catch rate is an all-time high

The U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) has announced a 100% catch rate for a series of illegal activities, a record for the agency. The catch rate was achieved through a combination of increased patrols, improved intelligence gathering, and better coordination with other law enforcement agencies. The CBP has also announced a series of reforms to improve its operations and prevent such incidents from occurring again.

Police grapple with drug war's death toll

Police departments across the country are grappling with the death toll of the drug war. The war has resulted in thousands of deaths, many of which are preventable. Police departments are facing a range of challenges, including a shortage of officers, a lack of resources, and a growing public demand for action. The war has also led to a loss of trust between the police and the community, making it difficult to gather intelligence and prevent future incidents.

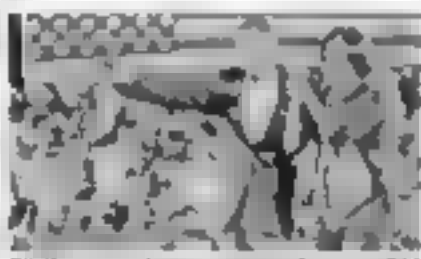

Supremacy struggles in West Coast to date

The struggle for supremacy in the West Coast has been a long and difficult one. The region has been the site of a series of conflicts, from the Mexican Revolution to the current drug war. The struggle has been fueled by a combination of factors, including a large population of immigrants, a high level of corruption, and a lack of effective governance. The struggle has also led to a loss of trust between the government and the people, making it difficult to implement reforms.

KP debt paper drops below global average

By Robert D. Thompson

Korea's debt paper has fallen below the global average, according to a new report from the International Monetary Fund.

The report, which is part of the IMF's annual Global Financial Stability Report, says that Korea's debt paper has fallen below the global average for the first time in over a decade.

The report also notes that Korea's debt paper has been a major source of financing for the country's economic growth, but that it has become increasingly vulnerable to global market conditions.
